By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN. (Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate. Inc.)

There is a natural line running through politics as well as through society in general, separating the conservative from the radical. The division is due in part, but not entirely to difference in information. Two people, equally well informed may take opposite views of a subject because of what may be called a constitutional tendency. These two forces contribute each its part, to the welfare of society if it were not for the conservative the radical would go too fast; if it were not for the radical the conservative would not go at all. In so far as the conservative simply compels deliberation, he performs a real service, and when conscientious and not influence by ulterior motives, he gradually yields to public opinion, based upon intelligent discussion.

But while the conservative can be tolerated because of the element of caution that he contributes, the reactionary belongs to a very different class. The conservative accepts progress when it becomes an accomplished fact and uses that which has been acquired when he contests some new steps in advance. The reactionary, on the other hand, is usually the secret agent of a public enemy, and, therefore, less candid in giving reasons for his course. An honest conservative points out the dangers as he sees them and utters a warning as conscientiously as the radical pleads for a change. Hut the reactionary conscious of his inability to defend his position in open argument, resorts to subterfue and false presence. The progressive forces of society have nothing to fear from honest conservatism; on the contrary, they welcome its challenge and meet its inquiries in the spirit in which they are persented.

But the reactionary, working in the dark and actuated by motives he can

The conflict between the unorganised masses, who ask only justice and are centent with the recognition of their rights, and the predatory interests, rages in every land, and nowhere more hitterly than in the United States. The stake is bigger here because the wealth which is within the reach of avarice here surpasses the dreams of the plutocratic of other lands, and the very intelligence of our people becomes the avenue through which misrepresentation can be apread when great newspapers are brought to the support of schemes of exploitation.

An Institution Abused.

The corporation, a real invention in commerce, and an aposite of democracy when properly employed, has become the means through which greed does the major part of its mischef. A corporation permits a large number of people to co-operate under conditions much more favorable than any partnership can offer and, when properly managed furnishes to the masses a means of sharing in great industries

Why Wilson Won.

In the campaign of 1916, the predatory interests made a united attack upon the Democratic party and his for the women's vote in the West, would have succeeded in overthrowing the party. And it should be remembered that the election in the West was won, not upon economic grounds, but because the president had resisted the efforts made to force him into the European war and into war with Mexico. He received so large a support in the suffrage states as to be elected by a small majority in the electional college, in spite of the Fast An inspection of the returns of that election leaves no doubt as to the completeness of the political organization formed by the moneyed interests of the country.

Then came our entry into the war, as a war necessity, the government took over the railroads, the telegraph lines and the telephones. This angered the monopolists beyond measure. White they had to confess the inability of private management to meet the extraction of the war, they saw at more that they had to meet the laste hetween private monopoly and government ownership. From that moment the fight was on in earnest, and government ownership was the point of attack. With the railroads, the felegraph lines and the telephones under the management of persons opposed to government ownership till being impossible under the circumstances to substitute new men for those in charge) the experiment had to be tried under the most unfavorable conditions. The fact that those in immediate control were out of sympathy with the policy of government ownership would have been enough to paralyse the experiment, but to the lack of sympathy was added an active effort to demonstrate the failure of government ownership, and every newspaper controlled by monopolies, local or national, teemed with criticism.

Why G. O, P. Won in 1918. Then came our entry into the war, as

The Republican victors in the on-gressional campairs of 1918 was due primarily to the aggressiveness of them predatory interests, rallied by the promise of the Republican leaders, and the congress elected in 1918 has so far lived up to the highest expectations of those who desire to return the gov-ernment to the control of the big in-terests.

ernment to the control of the big interests.

We are now approaching the campaign of 1320, where the case is to be tried out before the people—not fairly, by an open, honest statement of Issues, but by evanion, misrepresentation, and subterfuge. No party dares openly to espouse the policy of the big financial magnates who demand nothing less than the absolute control of the federal government in every branch that the power of private monopoly may be complete. They want the president, because his veto would throw upon them the necessity of having two-thirds of both houses—a preponderance to New York.

MILLIONAIRES' WIVES START NEW FAD; SHUN RENO AND GO TO PARIS TO SECURE FREEDOM

they cannot hope to secure. They also want a president who will turn the federal reserve system over to Wall street and put friends of the railroads on the intersiate commerce commission and the supreme bench. They want a senate that can prevent any interference with the ambitious of monopolles, profiteers and exploiters, and a house of representatives subservient to the demands of the favor-seeking corporations. They will try to control both parties, write both platforms and nominate both candidates; then they will be able to throw the Democratic party on the ashpile and give the Republican party a majority large enough to encourage it reskiessly to obey the instructions from Wall street.

What proportion of the senate increase the house will accept is problematical since the steering committee of the house has determined to make a campaign issue of "economy."

In his opinion, a young woman's edu-ation should belude a preparation for onic-making, professional life and citi-enship.

'Pretended Economy.'

A program of "pretended economy," Senator Simmons added, is largely responsible for this. A political steering committee in the house, he explained, had cut the estimates of the army cugineers in half. The house bill carried only $12,000,000 for rivers and harbors. The senate committee raised the amount to $20,000,000 and finally an amendment offered by Senator Harrison of Mississippi increased this to $24,000,000.

Senator Simmons Deplores Injection of Politics by Republicans Into Purely Business Legislation.

WASHINGTON. May 31—Deploring the injection of politics and a pretended economy campaign into the consideration of the rivers and harbors bill, Senator F. M. Simmons, a member of the commerce committee, asserted in a recent senate speech that a niggardly policy is being pursued in congress toward the improvement of rivers and harbors.

policy is being pursued in congress toward the improvement of rivers and harbors.

'I hope this is the last river and harbor bill that will have to run the gauntlet of manufactured prejudice and the exigencies of a political campaign," said Senator Simmons. 'I protest against the injection of politics into purely business legislation. If it is desired to make a record for economy, there is ample opportunity to cut down expenses without injury but with benefil to the country. It is indefensible to attempt to make a record of economy at the expense of the business interests of the country, its development and its expansion.

Senator Simmons said the comparatively small sum carried in the annual rivers and harbors budget meant the loss of morey already spent on many projects, and that the bill would cripple transportation at a time when it is imperative the United States should extend its commerce.

Electric Work

Every Woman

Be she working in factory, shop, office or at home, is often a sufferer from pains here or there, from worry, despondency, and frequently suffers from backache. Very often the trouble is in the organs essentially feminine. Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders and the faltering step. To retain the appearance of youth, a woman must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints ask your druggist for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is the woman's temperance tonic and nervine which has had the approval of thousands of women for nearly fifty years. It comes in liquid or tablet form, or send ten one-cent stamps to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package of the tablets. The "Favorite Prescription" is made without alcohol, and will dispel the pains and the weaknesses common to most women in different periods of life.

Nashville, Tenn. - "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine I have ever taken, I suffered for a long time with woman's trouble. I would become so nervous that I would have to give up and lie down. I suffered with backaches, pains in the side and bearing-down pains. I would have periodical spells of sickheadaches. I could not eat or sleep and I got where I was a physical wreck when I saw the 'Favorite Prescription' advertised. It completely cured me of the feminine trouble and restored me to good health."-MRS. Face Peeling Habit Becoming Fashionable

Women of fashion and refinement seem to have been acquiring the mercolized wax habit, depending less and less upoh cosmetics for their complexion difficulties. It does seem a dot saner to just beel off the wornout skin when it loses its youthful color and appearance—now that this can be done so easily, safely, painlessly and economically.

There is no trouble getting mercolized wax at any drug store (an ounce will do), since its virtues have become generally known here, and there's no trouble using it—just as you use cold cream, applying at night, washing it off next morning. The wax takes off the old scaif skin, in tiny flakes, a little each day. The new under-skin which gradually appears, is velvety soft and beautifully white, radiant with girlish loveliness. Any surface trouble like pimples, red or yellow patches, freckles, sie, vanishes of course with the discarded cuticle.
